The Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Reforms will place a statutory requirement on settings from September 2014 to make information available to parents about how the setting supports children with SEND. The information you make available will form the main basis of your setting's Local Offer.

This Local Offer template is designed to help you to pull together information so that parents of children with Special Educational Needs (SEN) or disabilities know what support they can expect if their child attends your setting. Your setting's Local Offer must be published on your website. Your website must include the name and contact details of your SENCO and the following link to the Local Authority's Local Offer:

INSERT LINK HERE

The questions in the template are intended as prompts and reflect key issues that parents have told us they would like to know about when deciding which setting could best meet their child's needs. You may also wish to consult with your own parents about what to include in your Local Offer.

In developing your Local Offer you should be mindful that there is a requirement for a feedback facility to be available and for responses to be given to feedback received.

When you have added your Local Offer onto your website, please complete the following details and return the sheet by email to IDSS.SENDReforms@lancashire.gov.uk

What the setting provides

The nursery is a privately owned nursery, offering care for children aged 0 - 5 years. The nursery is set in a large bungalow with two separate units close to Blackpool airport. The nursery opens Monday to Friday throughout the year from 08:00 until 18:00. The nursery closes all bank holidays and for a week at Christmas. Care is provided in four small units, a baby unit for under ones that has a joining nappy changing area, sleep room and milk kitchen, a toddler unit for children aged one year to two years, a separate unit for children aged two to three years and a pre-school unit that operates in a separate building. There is a room leader in every unit to support the practitioners working in the room. There are two enclosed outdoor play areas.

In addition to the room co-ordinators the setting also has practitioners with additional responsibilities; this includes a named person for supporting behaviour, parental involvement, safeguarding officers and SENCO (special educational needs co-ordinator).

The nursery manager has completed a B.Ed Honours Degree with an additional Early Years Specialism element and has achieved an EYT. Both the manager and the deputy manager monitor the quality of provision and support the staff with their additional responsibilities.

Accessibility and Inclusion

- How accessible is the setting environment?
Is the building fully wheelchair accessible? Do you have accessible parking spaces? Have there been improvements in the auditory and visual environment? Are there accessible changing/toilet facilities? How do you improve access to the setting?
- How accessible is your information - including displays, policies and procedures etc.
Do you have information available in different font sizes, audio information, Braille, other languages etc. How does the setting communicate with parents and families whose first language is not English? How is information made accessible to parents and families with additional needs?
- How accessible is the provision?
How is the room organised, how can it be changed to meet the needs of children with SEND? How do you make use of resources such as symbols, pictures and sign graphics to support children's access to resources? Do you have furniture such as height adjustable tables or alternative ways of presenting activities so that children can access them?

What the setting provides

The setting is set in a large bungalow and a separate ground level pre-school unit. The building is wheelchair accessible from the ramp that is situated in the baby/toddler garden into a corridor. There are also low level steps leading up to the main entrance of the nursery. There is a car park at the front of the main building and also to the rear. The building is accessed via key code system to the main entrance of the setting.

There are a number of accessible toilets in the setting, 2 children's toilets are situated in the toddler room in the main building along with an adult toilet. There are also 2 children's toilets in each of the rooms within the separate pre school unit and an adult toilet.

There is a purpose built pram store outside that can store buggies.

The entrance to the nursery is bright as sunlight comes through the door. The corridor leading to the baby and toddler unit has strip light leading down. The whole of the nursery is painted in a pale yellow on the walls with white skirting boards. Part of the nursery has flutex carpet and other areas such as dining/messy play has marmoleum flooring.

There is a partnerships display board in the porch with details such as local events and activities such as the local library and children's centre. There is a parent board in the entrance of the nursery opposite the office, with information such as the Ofsted report, menus and policies. The monthly newsletter is displayed on the parent's notice board as well as on the nursery website. We are also working to display the policies on the nursery website.

The Rooms:

All the rooms are illuminated with an energy saving light bulb and lampshade and there are curtains or blinds on all the windows. The walls are painted in a pale yellow colour with display boards mounted at adult height. The display boards are backed in bright colours to stand out from the pale walls. Rugs and quilt covers are placed in areas to create comfortable areas for relaxation. All the units have a sink, the baby room has an attached milk kitchen with a fridge, sink, sterilizer and kettle. Apart from the kitchen areas all the furniture is freestanding so can be moved and re arranged to make space for specialist equipment or to ensure the rooms are accessible for children using walkers or wheelchairs.

In the baby and toddler unit there are low wooden chairs and tables situated on the marmoleum flooring. This is where the children can explore the messy activities and it is cleaned away for mealtimes. Cushions are used to make soft/comfortable areas; there are four cots in a separate cot room that is attached to the baby room which is monitored on a regular basis. All the mattresses are wiped clean and children have their own individual bedding. The toddler unit have wipe able sleep mats set up with their own bedding. There are low high chairs for the babies and a small low level table for meal times. The toddler unit have two small tables each with different heights (heights of the table can be adapted) where the children sit at for meal times. Resources are suitable for the children, treasure baskets are used to support play and exploration. The toddler unit also has a toddler gym inside which supports the children's physical development.

The Lower Pre School Room is situated in the separate pre-school unit at the rear of the main building which is accessed by a path around the baby garden. The sand and water trays are of small height adjustable units. In the main room the children sit at wooden chairs and tables and have a table for drinks and fresh fruit, mark making and in the role play area. Rugs and chairs are used to make a comfortable area and there is a small den which is used for quiet times that has draping material and cushions for comfort. Toys are stored at the children's height to ensure they have access; there are pictures and labels on the front of the storage boxes to identify what is in them. Areas are defined by placing the furniture in certain areas such as drawers containing the construction toys and book shelf to define the comfortable area. Resources are suitable to the age group however toys can be borrowed or rotated from a store in the attic to meet children's needs and development.

The pre school room is attached to the lower pre school unit. The sand and water tray are height adjustable. The children's resources and equipment are kept in storage units at the children's height. Resources are organised in areas of provision. Toys and resources are appropriate to the children's age however toys and equipment can be borrowed from other age groups.

The outdoors:

The outdoor environment consists of two main garden areas; a baby/toddler garden and a large pre-school garden. The lower and pre-school units both have access to covered free flow areas which are attached to the rooms. All garden areas are accessible by a gate. The baby/toddler garden has a covered low level sand pit in with appropriate toys and resources. There is low level seating for the children and a high level seating area for adults to sit with the children. The main garden is very natural and is accessed by two gates This garden has wooden planters and patio area with picnic benches. There is also a seating area with a story well for the children and adults to share stories. To the rear of the garden there is a wooden seesaw fixed into the ground. This garden also has a small area with trees and shrubs.

Outdoor resources are kept outside and chosen and adapted to suit the needs of the children attending the setting.

Identification and Early Intervention

- How does the setting know if a child needs extra help and what should a parent do if they think their child may have special educational needs?
How do you identify children with special educational needs? (Refer to how you monitor children's progress - including the 2-3 year check)
How can a parent raise any concerns they may have?
How do you access additional advice and support? (Make reference to the setting's SEN/Inclusion policy and how this identifies the graduated response the setting follows).
- How are decisions made about how to support a child?
How do you determine and plan for additional support from within the setting? Describe the decision making process. Who will make the decision and on what basis? Who else will be involved? How will a parent/parents be involved?

What the setting provides

Children's progress is closely monitored in the setting. Each child has their own key worker who produces a learning journey which includes observations, photos, children's work, observations from parents and tracking information about their progress across the areas of learning and development within the EYFS. The information about the learning journeys is shared with parents when the children start their visits.

The children's learning journeys are available for the children to access themselves and also for parents to look at any time they would like. Key workers are also available at the beginning and end of the day to chat to parents, some parents may struggle so all parents are invited to come in to talk about their child's development and ask any questions or advice that may be needed. The learning journeys are shared with the parents three times a year during parents evening. If parents struggle to attend the evenings we make alternative arrangements for parents to meet at a more convenient time. These meetings can also involve a more confidential aspect which can be held in a more private area.

In addition to the learning journey a report is written for each child for every parents evening, this report is based on the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS). In addition we also undertake the 2 year progress check. This is a requirement of the EYFS and is done for all children in this age group. The EYFS requires us to report to parents on their child's progress, discussing and identifying any problems as well as concerns. Where the progress check suggests that a child may be experiencing some difficulties or delays in their development this is shared with parents and next steps are discussed:

- For some children the next steps may involve the key person targeting a specific area of development and planning additional opportunities for the child. This can then be reviewed to see how the child has progressed and whether or not additional steps need to be taken to support the child's progress and development.
- For other children the next step may also include developing a targeted learning plan where specific aims are developed with parents to support the child's development. We may also discuss with parents whether it would be appropriate to refer their child to other services such as speech and language therapy, this would require parental consent.
- Another next step may be to ask the local authority Inclusion Teacher to visit the child in the setting to provide some additional advice and guidance to practitioners to support them in meeting the needs of the child. This visit is called a 'request for guidance' and can only be undertaken with parent consent.

Our Special Educational Needs policy is available in the setting.

What the setting provides

The setting works within the framework of the EYFS. Each of the rooms within the setting are resourced according to the age phase and needs of the children within them. Practitioners use Development Matters and the Statutory Guidance for the EYFS to plan provision and activities for the children in their care. The EYFS identifies three prime areas of learning and development and four specific areas of learning and development. In the 0-2 age range (baby and toddler room) the prime areas of learning and development (Communication and Language, Physical and Personal, Social and Emotional Development).

In the 2-3 age range the prime areas remain significant but there is an emergence of the specific areas of development and learning.

In the 3-4 age range (pre school) the prime areas continue to be a focus but there is an increasing balance between focusing on supporting children's development in the prime areas and the specific areas.

Activities and provision are adapted to suit the needs of all the children; practitioners differentiate the activities and provision to meet the needs of all the children. Some children may need more differentiation than others as they may have additional or special educational needs. Staff are sensitive to all the children's development and keep in mind the importance of differentiation to enable all children the opportunity to access the setting and activities in a way that is appropriate to them and their needs.

All children have a key person; it is the role of the key person to support the child's learning and development. The key person also helps parents to develop ways to support their child's learning at home. The practitioners share ideas during feedback time and also during parent's evenings. As a setting we also support home learning by providing story sacks for parents to take home and share with their children. The story sacks contain stories, information books, puppets and activities. Parents can use these activities to spend time supporting their communication skills. There are leaflets and posters advertising local groups that the parents can access such as the local children's centre and library. Parents are able to speak to their child's key worker or manager at any time if they would like further information or advice on supporting their child's learning at home.

Teaching and Learning Part 2 - Provision & Resources

- How are the setting's resources used to support practitioners to meet children's special educational needs?
How does the setting determine what resources are available to support them in meeting the needs of children with special educational needs and disabilities?
How is the setting's funding allocated? If resources are required how are they sourced and purchased?
If additional staffing is provided, how is this organised?
How do you work with other professionals e.g. making key staff available to meet with/spend time with other professionals visiting the child? Provision Mapping
- What specialist services and expertise are available at or accessed by the setting?
Are there specialist staff working at the setting and what are their qualifications?
What other services does the setting access including education, health, therapy and social care services?
- How is a child included in activities outside the setting including trips?
What adjustment will you make to ensure a child is able to access the activities of the setting and how will you assist him or her to do so?
How do you involve parents/carers in planning activities and trips?

What the setting provides

Each age range is provided with resources that are developmentally appropriate for the age group. We ensure suitable resources overlap with the age range to support children's development that develop slowly or quickly so they access resources and activities appropriate to their needs.

Where children require access to resources that are significantly different to the resources available within their age range we make arrangements to share resources with younger or older groups. The nursery also has a store of equipment and resources stored separately in the attic so that practitioners can rotate to ensure the environment is kept exciting and inviting for the children. As a nursery group we also share resources between the settings. When children need resources that are not usually available in our setting we endeavour to access these from loan facilities, support services or by purchasing. We liaise with parents and other professionals to ensure resources are appropriate for the needs of the child.

All practitioners are encouraged to work with other professionals who visit children in the setting; the SENCO, room leaders and manager support the practitioners to gain this experience.

As a setting we plan trips out of the setting such as the local park, Morrisons, Pets at Home, local greengrocers, Thames Children's Centre and the local library. We undertake risk assessments and consider the needs of the children; we make reasonable adjustments when planning trips and outings to ensure the places we visit are accessible and meet the needs of the children attending the setting.

What the setting provides

Parents receive feedback each day when they pick their child up, the practitioners are on hand to answer any questions and give details of how their child has been in the day. Parents can also attend three parents' evenings during the year which gives the practitioners a chance to share the children's learning and development. This is also a fantastic opportunity to share ideas and activities for parents to carry out at home.

When a child starts at the setting they are assigned a key person who is the practitioner who supports the child's learning and development. The key person will observe the child for the first month to work out what level the child is at on the tracker. This can then inform the practitioner what areas the child needs to develop, the practitioner also liaises with the parents.

The practitioners share the tracker with the parents at parents evening, the parents can also fill in a home learning sheet which is a sheet for parents to fill in about activities and achievements that can be cross referenced for their child's learning journey.

The setting provides a home diary that is filled in every week with a photograph and write up of their child's week with things such as what they have learnt or taken an interest in that week. Parents are also invited to fill this in at the weekend as the children like to share the diaries with their friends and practitioners.

Before a child starts at the nursery parents are invited to attend visits with their child. This gives the parents an opportunity to ask the practitioners any questions and for the practitioners to find more out about the child. Staff reinforce the partnership with parents and try and share as much information as possible.

There are various ways that parents and family are involved in the setting. Parents and family are invited to spend time in the nursery such as supporting the nursery in activities. Parents are also invited in to talk about their jobs such as Police and the Ambulance service.

The nursery also has a summer and Christmas fair which are both great events to support partnerships with parents. The pre school who are going to school have a graduation ceremony during the fair.

Transitions

- How does the setting prepare and support a child to join the setting, transfer to a new setting or the next stage of education and life to ensure his/her well-being?
What preparation is there for the setting, parents and the child before he/she joins the setting?
How will a child be prepared to move onto the next stage?
What information will be provided to a new setting?
How will a new setting be supported to prepare for a child? (Use of access action plans when children have known needs that may require more significant planning)

What the setting provides

Before children attend the setting we encourage parents to bring them for visits, this not only supports the children to settle into the setting but it also gives parents a chance to know the staff and the setting. We plan for parents to visit with their child for the first visit, this gives parents the chance to ask any questions and also for practitioners to get to know the child. We then plan more visits where the parent can leave their child for short periods of time for example they may leave for one hour and then another visit maybe two hours.

The setting also has a transition policy for children transitioning through the nursery through the different age ranges. The children will visit the next room with their key worker to make themselves familiar with the new room. Parents will be introduced to the child's new key worker and visits will be arranged on days they attend. An evaluation of information is written by the child's key worker and passed onto the next key worker before the child moves up. Parents are also given all about me forms to fill in at each age range to ensure the children's needs and interests are being planned for.

The setting also offers home visits to the parents, where the child's key worker and senior management visit the child at home. This gives the child the opportunity to get to know their key worker in their own environment. This supports the child's personal and social development.

Transitions to schools are also carefully planned. We invite all the class teachers to visit the setting to meet the children. The transition documents are written and sent to the class teacher at the end of June in time for teachers to read before the summer holiday. For children who have special educational needs a transition meeting is arranged to ensure that all targets and information are shared.

Staff Training

- What training have the staff supporting children with SEND, had or are expected to have?
What number of staff hold what level of qualification?
How many staff are in training to move up to next level?
What level are the manager, SENCO, room leaders trained to?
Do you have any/how many staff with EYPS?
What experience does the staff team have of children with SEND? This should include recent and future planned training and disability awareness. In house and external training and 'on the job' experience including input from external professionals that has resulted in staff being 'skilled up' in particular areas.
Are there any staff (e.g. within chains of nurseries) that are available to support you? What qualifications/experience do they have?
Do any staff have any specialist qualifications?
Is the setting recognised/accredited as, for example, an 'I Can' nursery or does the setting have other quality assurance recognition related to SEND?

What the setting provides

The practitioners in our setting are qualified to level 3 or above. There are four members of staff who are currently modern apprentices 2 are studying to gain their level 2 and 2 are studying to gain their level 3. The manager as a B.Ed Honours Degree and EYT. Two other members of staff have a degree one being B.Sc Honours degree and one BA(HONS) Early Childhood Studies. Seven members of another of staff are working towards the Foundation Degree.

We have a regular programme of supervision and appraisals for all practitioners. We value these opportunities to support their further professional development and they are encouraged to seek and are provided with opportunities for this.

The staff also attend in house training once a month which cover topics such as observation, assessment and planning, enhancing area and safeguarding. Room co-ordinators also attend a meeting once a week with the manager, this gives the manager the opportunity to introduce anything new and also for the co-ordinators to talk to each other and share their experiences.

Once a month there is a planning meeting for co-ordinators and management to develop the planning and observation techniques of the setting and nursery group. Ideas are shared and implemented such as a new planning format or medium term plans for the next term.

Within our setting we have staff who have completed the following training courses :

Working with babies

ICAN

Observation, assessment and planning

Planning for the EYFS

Seeing the bigger picture

Planning from children's interests

As a setting we also seek to support practitioners to further develop their knowledge and understanding of a range of additional and special educational needs.
